Syndication

Syndication

Some transactions and projects are too large to risk with a single Auricoin Bank. Through our Syndication services, we can pool resources from several Auricoin Banks to share the risks involved in high-value transactions. This gives you access to a diverse set of resources, tailored to different aspects of business.

Auricoin Bank Initiative

The Auricoin Bank Initiative is aware that it understands the difficulties that business people and entrepreneurs face when turning an idea into a viable business project. One of the first barriers they encounter is financing. This barrier becomes more evident, among other things, because the economic quantification of the "output" is not very easy to define.

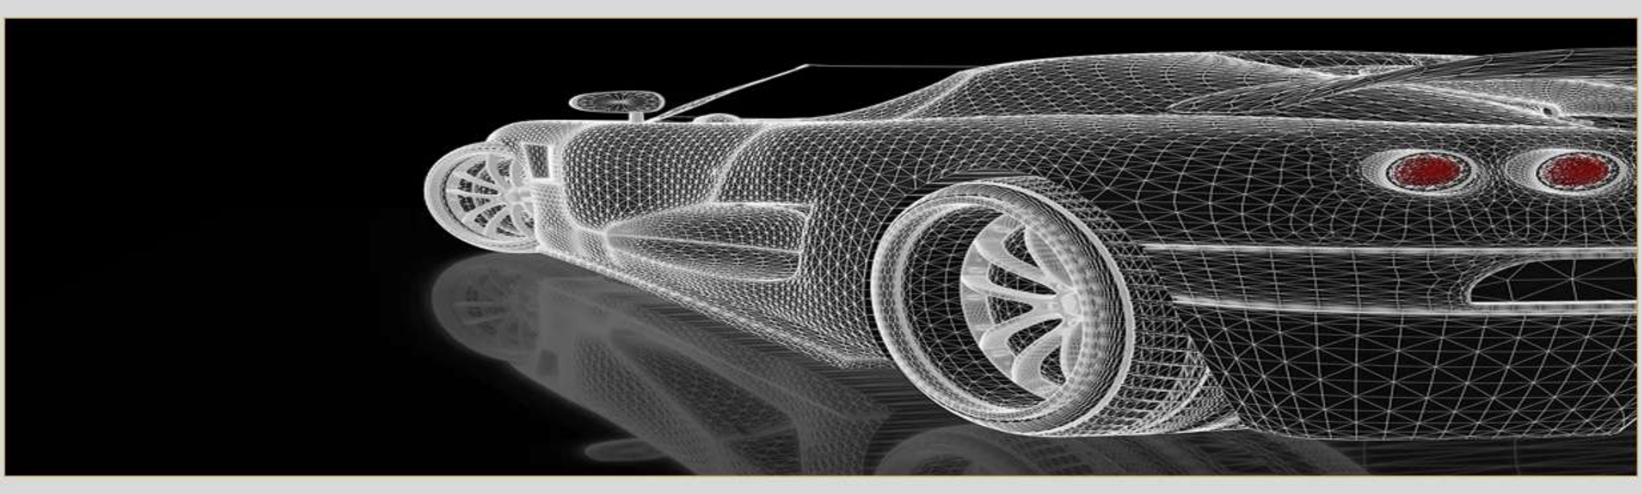
To help overcome this barrier, Auricoin Bank developed a system called Syndication, which consists of bringing together several Auricoin Banks to provide the necessary financing to boost these projects.

We want innovative, creative people with new projects to see us from now on as the financial source or the usual and good resource for small and medium-sized enterprises, as well as for creative companies in the initial phase and/or startups, we want to support projects that benefit the most people.

We created this financing channel which is the most appropriate, as traditional financial institutions do not offer specialised products that respond to the specific characteristics of this sector.

Syndication are funds aimed at capitalising entrepreneurs, which are the most focused on startups in the creative sector.

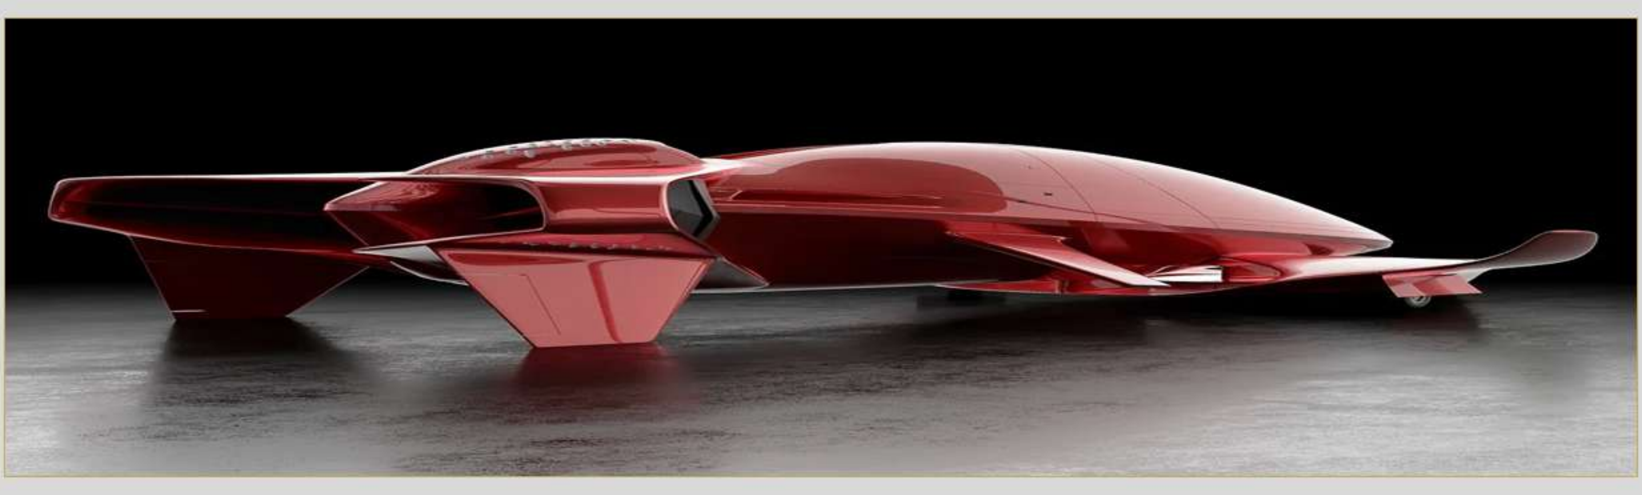
There are several advantages



The company not only receives capital in Auricoin money, but also receives non-monetary resources (e-Commerce where they can offer their products). In addition, it increases the professionalism, transparency and institutionality of the company. Finally, there are specialised funds in the Auricoin Bank that are perfectly adapted to the needs of these companies.

Another favourable aspect is the grace periods and the interest charged to these companies, as they no longer have to try their luck on the stock markets. The credit repayment period, which is usually relatively long, is of benefit to these start-ups.

New Business



Auricoin Bank is an investor with extensive experience investing in new businesses. Therefore, it is a Bank that is not only looking for opportunities to invest its capital, but also brings all its knowledge with the investment. It is very important that when you are going to develop your business project and present it to Auricoin Bank, you prepare a good pitch.

You are in control

In the Auricoin Bank they find a way of financing, which will be increasingly accepted in the creative sector, especially for macro-projects, but also for investment projects. They allow companies to have control of the project and know first-hand the interest of the target audience.

What makes this source of financing more attractive is the grace period, which is beneficial to start up the project and was an obstacle to develop it with the traditional system, which was often not enough for the company to apply for it.

Funds for Different Projects

In the Auricoin Bank you find funds never existed before, for any innovative project, also all sectors are covered, such as the film and audiovisual sector. We are here to finance production, scriptwriting, development and/or post-production activities. The nature of the project can vary: short films, feature films, television and/or web projects, etc.

Business Accelerators and Incubators

At Auricoin Bank we are looking to become an incubator as we are looking for startups that have the potential to go to market. To do this, we have experts and professionals who work with you to help your project move forward.

We accompany these startups until they have developed their projects and are ready to go to market. Among other advantages, it is not only about receiving resources, but also about having the support of experienced people.

Auricoin Bank does not require an equity stake in the start-up.

Auricoin Bank Funds

They now have an Auricoin Bank, which will always be the first option to consider when developing an innovative project, because you should always start by looking at what you have at home and that is how you should see yourself. It will almost never be enough, but it is important to evaluate and make good use of what you have, in order to save as much as possible on the costs associated with external financing.

At an Auricoin Bank you can be sure that, just as with equity, it is one of the first avenues to be explored.

The Auricoin Bank wants to be your first stage of financing, for entrepreneurs and also for the expansion of companies.
